

Thank you for considering Weather Guard Roofing for your upcoming roofing project. We recognize that your house is, first and foremost, your home – a very special place to you and your family. In addition, your home is one of your family's largest investments.

When the time comes to have work done on your home, you want to protect your investment. Choosing the right contractor is critical to ensure that improvement and repair work is completed properly, in a timely manner, and for a fair price. You need to select a contractor that is capable of doing the job correctly and exhibits the highest level of integrity.

Weather Guard Roofing has been meeting and exceeding the expectations of customers since we opened for business in 1990. Since then, we have satisfied thousands of customers in numerous local communities. Our customers give us the highest praise because of the commitment to excellence we show on every job.

At Weather Guard Roofing, our values are reflected in our motto:

*Materials from names you trust,
Workmanship of the highest quality,
Service that provides peace of mind.*

And our employees live by these values every day. That is our commitment to every homeowner.

We look forward to having a chance to work with you!
